Music recital etiquette

We use our annual music recitals as educational opportunities for both performers and community members, in addition to showcasing the talent our students possess. We want to teach and reinforce proper audience etiquette for a more serious recital setting, and we want to impart a sense of occasion to all our students.

- All students may play one piece (if a student takes multiple instruments, they will have to choose which instrument to perform on)
- All students must be in Special Event Dress
- All students should be thoroughly prepared for their piece. If they are not ready, they should not perform.
- Performers will have reserved seats in front.
- All performers should say their name clearly and introduce their piece. After performing they should bow and smile.
